

When Love Came Knocking At My Door

When I found the right one,
I was so blessed that it was also my best friend.
We have so much in common,
it is sometimes funny.

We think so much alike,
that we were meant to be together.
I am so glad I met my fiancé Scott.
I feel so special to have such a great guy.

We feel each other happiness and pain.
We can always make the other one laugh,
even when we are feeling blue.
Together forever is our motto.
Together we will make it happen.

I love the way he helps me to be more assertive with others.
He has taught me so much.
I love to be with my fiancé Scott.
I love you so much,
when your love came knocking at my door.

Written by Julie Marie Caldwell
December 29th, 2012